*"The impossible
Could be a coincidence
Or did you bring it"*

Haiku by Alistair Gentry

Nekomat is an artifact inspired by the concept of synchronicity, a term coined by Carl Jung to denote events that occur with no causal relationship yet seem to be meaningfully related. It is true that there is no causality, or is the relationship just too complex for our minds to understand? If synchronicity would have a body, how would it look like? Nekomat is a possible visualization of this concept, materialised in a three-dimensional frame that allows to honour a mystic connection between two pictures.

Materials: wooden frame varnished matt black with silver pigmentation. Natural anti-reflection protective glass.
